Dear Commissioners:

POSTAL REGULATORY COMMISSION

Please do NOT implement the recently proposed 10-year strategic plan until you are convinced the changes are in the best interest of the public and USPS, and not the Postmaster General.

You are aware that Mr. DeJoy is being investigated by the North Carolina Attorney General for involvement in a massive "straw donor" scheme to benefit the Republican National Committee and Trump's election. There is speculation that the success of this effort enabled fundraiser-DeJoy to illegally contribute millions towards causes and individuals that resulted in him being appointed Postmaster General.

The citizens for Responsibility and Ethics in Washington found that, when questioned about his "practices", DeJoy lied to congress - while under oath. How can he be trusted to objectively design a ten-year plan?

Do we now believe in Louis DeJoy, the altruistic civil servant?

The public has demonstrated in front of his house. "His" employees have demonstrated in front of their places of work. His scheming has earned him a reputation: the worse of Postmaster Generals in generations.

We cannot trust this man.
